THE SERIES

Dean Jeffries, known as 'Deej' by his friends, is a website programmer happily married to his wife, Laurie. An outgoing, lovable geek, he immediately springs into action when she goes missing, despite her urging him to walk away and forget her.

Laurie Jeffries is a woman with a hidden past. Before she met and married Dean, she was about to blow the whistle on a major corporation with government ties. Until recently, it was presumed that she was already dead.

Lynch is a former US Marshall who helped Laurie hide and faked the death of her original identity. He is tipped off that her cover is blown and shows up just in time to once again save her life and whisk her into the underground.

Phil is Dean's co-worker. He prefers to communicate via video chat and is an amateur hacker. His skills prove most useful as they begin to dig around Laurie's hidden past.

Daley and Gless are hired assassins posing as detectives. No one knows who they are working for and they are letting Dean do the dirty work of finding Laurie so they can kill her.

Throughout the first season of GONE: The Series, we see Dean struggle with the sudden disappearance of his wife, hunt for clues to where she is and who she really was, and try to stay one step ahead of the people trying to kill Laurie. The stakes will always be high and time is of the essence.

This action-packed drama can be considered the '24' of WebTV.
